Memorial Types

All sites are offered in perpetuity.

Graves

Each grave provides the option for two bodily and ashes interments with the exception of interments in the Muslim area. Families are able to install a plaque, headstone or monumental headstone, in consultation with the Cemetery Trust, to provide a lasting commemoration of a loved one.

Ashes

Kialla West Cemetery offers ashes interments in either existing or new graves. Families are able to install a plaque, headstone or monumental headstone in consultation with the Cemetery Trust.

Muslim interments

Kialla West Cemetery recognises the traditions of the Muslim community and has developed separate spaces for the internment of Muslim children and adults in accordance with cultural practices. These sites can accommodate one burial in each.

All graves in the Muslim area are covered in white stone. A personalised plaque, which may be written in any language, can be designed by the family and affixed to a granite plinth in commemoration of the loved one. These memorials must be ordered and installed by the Trust. Please contact the Trust for further information.

- The use of glass or ceramic objects or vessels on memorials is strictly prohibited
- No loose memorial items are permitted on the lawn area at any location within the Kialla West Cemetery
